Learn about the future of tourism at Japan's top campus

Hokkaido University boasts the largest grounds in Japan, and offers an attractive opportunity to pursue education and research in creative tourism studies in order to develop new tourism promotion methods in local communities and encourage communication through tourism.

Hokkaido University Center for Advanced Tourism Studies

This research centre is staffed by teachers working in the Graduate School's tourism creation studies major. It undertakes a wide range of studies into local tourism projects both in Japan and abroad, working together with municipalities like Hiroshima, Hokkaido's Beil and Shirakawa in Gifu, as well as in countries such as Ethiopia, Zimbabwe, Jordan, Fiji and Peru. It also researches tourism promotion through the use of manga and anime. This 50 things to do in Sapporo guide is one of the center's projects, produced together with the city of Sapporo. If you're interested in world-class tourism studies, please visit the website.

Society for Promotion of Creative Tourism in Sapporo

The '50 things to do in Sapporo' guide map is a project by Society for Promotion of Creative Tourism in Sapporo.

This research society explores and promotes tourism in Sapporo, helping to stimulate the local economy and give both locals and tourists a chance to discover the charms of Sapporo anew. Participants include the city of Sapporo, the Center for Advanced Tourism Studies at Hokkaido University, Insight, North Pacific Bank, and Oracle Corporation Japan. This guide map aims to introduce tourists to the Sapporo that locals enjoy, and incorporates ideas from a wide range of actors, including corporations, the bank, the local government, university students and teachers, who all came together to debate and pick out their favourites.

Order a boat of sashimi

Restaurant

Creepy masks and vintage toys line the walls of this seafood restaurant, which serves up world-class fish. If you find it hard to plough through all that raw fish, ask them to cook up what's left for a change in flavour. Reservations recommended.
 Tetsu-chan 3-B

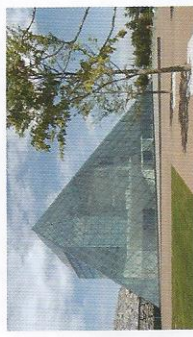

002 Restaurant End your night with a miso-flavoured slurp

A popular spot for post-booze noodles, Iso-chan is one of Susukino Shin Ramen Alley's top shops and stays open until 5am (3am on Sundays). Don't miss the local speciality: miso-based Chuka Negi Ramen served with corn and a nice big chunk of butter.
 Iso-chan 3-B

003 Sightseeing Peek at public art

Admire the impressive Glass Pyramid and other quirky open-air pieces at this extensive art park designed by Isamu Noguchi. The place gets really snowy from early January to early March, but skis and snow shoes are available to rent.
 Moerenuma Park 5-E

004 Shopping Set your alarm for pastries

Organic-leaning, heartily topped pastries line the shelves, but you'll need to visit this newly opened bakery in the morning to get your hands on one of the super-popular breads - they'll all be gone by noon.
 Marumugi 6-D

005 Shopping Pick out paper

Stocking more varieties of paper than we knew existed, Mabuchi is your one-stop shop for any and all letter-writing needs. Find it at the top of a flight of stairs, to your right as you enter the store.
 Mabuchi 3-B

006 Restaurant Warm up like the locals do

Soup curry is one of Sapporo's best-known culinary inventions - sample it with shrimp-based soup and chunky veg at the funky Okushiba chain's original branch, which is set inside a traditional Japanese-style house.
 Soto Curry Okushiba Shoten 4-A

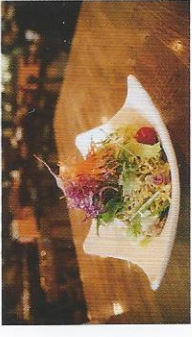

007 Restaurant See Sapporo's most famous building

Built in 1888, this red-brick neo-Baroque beauty makes a strong case for the title of most beautiful building in Sapporo, and the night-time light-up only adds to the splendour. There's a free museum inside.
 Former Hokkaido Government Office 2-B

008 Restaurant Taste a fusion monstrosity

'Ramen salad' is a popular izakaya dish in Hokkaido, and we have to thank for the Sapporo Grand Hotel to bring to the innovation. Try combining noodles and veg with a pint of Sapporo beer, brought in directly from the brewery.
 Hokkaido Dining Big Jug 2-B

009 Art Descend into an arty tunnel

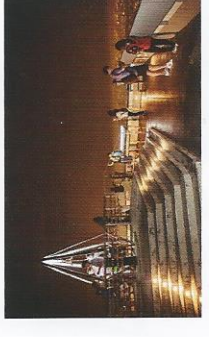

Afresco art is everywhere in Sapporo, but some of the finest pieces are actually hidden underground: as the name suggests, this free gallery shows off local (and sometimes foreign) artists' work over a 500m stretch between Odori and Bus Center-Mae metro stations. Sapporo Odori 500m Underground Walkway Gallery 2-C

010 Shopping Discover what lies beneath

This snake-like underground passageway is not only convenient on rainy or snowy days: it's also a popular shopping destination, with areas like 'Aurora Town' and 'Pole Town' set up to attract the masses.
 Sapporo Chikagai 2-B

011 Sightseeing Wish upon a padlock

Climb the 531m-high Mount Moiwawa for a stunning view of Sapporo and - on fine days - Ishikari Bay. Couples who lock a padlock up on the deck and ring the 'Bell of Happiness' are said to live happily ever after.
 Mount Moiwawa Observation Deck 6-D

012 CaféLick the emperor's ice cream

Created exclusively for the imperial couple back in 1968, the decadently rich Snow Royal ice cream can now be had by commoners as well – it's even available in parfait form. Also check out their amazing selection of other parfaits on offer.

Yukijirushi Parlor 2-B

013 ShoppingGo apartment shopping

It may look like a normal apartment building from the outside, but each room here is actually a shop, café or workshop. Gather your courage and ring the doorbells – adventures await on the other side. Note: some shops only open on weekends.

Space 1-15 3-A

014 RestaurantOrder a fish set for breakfast

If only the freshest marine treats are good enough for you – and fish for breakfast doesn't sound too outpitting – this popular eatery inside the Nijo Fish Market is a must-visit. Head over from 7am and order the grilled fish set.

Nagamori 3-C

Complete the Maruyama 'pilgrimage'

Comparable to Shikoku's Hachijuhakkasho pilgrimage, this mountain trail can be completed fairly easily since Mt Maruyama only reaches 225m. Wake up early to watch the sunrise from the summit, then pray at the Hokkaido Shrine (24). Afterwards, stop at nearby Marumugi bakery (4) and Moricho café (18).

015 TheatreStick around for a puppet show

The first public puppet theatre in Japan, Nakajima Park's Kogumaza holds regular shows with entrance fees as low as ¥300, making it worth a stop even if you're just passing through the park. There are performances almost every weekend.

Sapporo Children's Puppet Theatre Kogumaza 4-B

016 Café & BarBrowse 9,000 records over lunch

A steadily growing record collection has forced it to relocate several times over the last 40 or so years, but this dedicated jazz café has always stayed true to its mission: to offer quality tunes and tasty grub to a diverse audience.

Bossa 3-B

017 LeisurePut the fun into farming

This 'agricultural amusement park' aims to teach and inspire. Take a tour of the milk factory and try some freshly made soft serve in the building next door. Open from late April to early November.

Milk no Sato 5-E

018 Café
Sip artisanal Joe in a traditional home

Home-roasted, hand-drip coffee in a gorgeous 70-year-old wooden house – your mid-afternoon break doesn't get much better than this. If you're feeling peckish, try the excellent croque-monsieur or something off the extensive dessert menu.

Moricho 6-D

019 SightseeingEnter the bear house

The polar bears are the stars of the show – especially the pup born in late 2014 – but this superb zoo also offers plenty more wild highlights. Look out for the new Africa Zone, open in October 2015. Kids aged 15 and under enter for free.

Maruyama Zoo 6-D

020 ArtPonder some rocky art

Sculpture collective Cinq has turned this former nanseki ('soft stone') quarry into a surreal outdoor art exhibit, complete with a Colosseum-like stone piece and several fortress-like structures. Rocky art can be viewed in the south area, while the north area offers an observation deck.

Ishiyama Green Space 7-D

021 RestaurantSavour sublime sushi on the cheap

In Sapporo, even the conveyor-belt sushi is something else: the night at Toriton go for as low as ¥130, but the quality can't be faulted. This branch is a little out of the way, which means you probably won't have to queue up to savour treats like local scallops and prawns.

Kaitenzushi Toriton Maruyama 5-D

022 ShoppingHunt down choice choc

Making the most of local ingredients, these Sapporo-based chocolate artisans' creations are treats for both the eyes and the taste buds. Their buttery, just-right Pain au Chocolat tends to sell out in the blink of an eye.

Chocolaterie Masale 6-D

023 RestaurantMunch on Sapporo soul food

It might not look like much at first sight, but locals swear by this chain eatery that deals in two Sapporo staples: curry and gyoza dumplings. Order the Miyohino Set for a taste of both.

Miyohino 3-B

026 ShoppingKit yourself out for the chilly season

Sapporo offers a wealth of outdoor activities. Gear up for a weekend camping trip on the ground floor of this store, or head upstairs for pro-grade sleeping bags, tents and weather-resistant clothing – you'll really need the latter during Hokkaido's winter.

027 RestaurantCombine beer with history

Swig a brew or two over some lamb hot pot in a historical building – this pretty structure dates back to 1890 and serves up delicious 'jingsukan' (a mutton dish named after the Mongol warlord Genghis Khan). The Sapporo Beer Museum next door is also well worth a visit.

Brush up on the island's history

Although some declare the Sapporo Clock Tower (2-B on the map) a tourist trap (it's no Big Ben), it's still an important cultural heritage and a major player in Hokkaido's development. It was built in 1878 as the theatrical hall of the former Sapporo Agricultural School, and its historical architecture stands out amongst neighbouring urban developments.

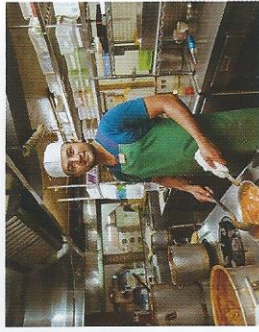

028

Leisure

Feast on curry at an onsen

Pure hot spring water and open-air baths? Sure, but the real draw here is the restaurant's heavenly curry, fastidiously crafted by Nepali and Indian chefs. More than worth the 80-minute bus trip from Sapporo Station.

Hotelskyo Onsen 7-D

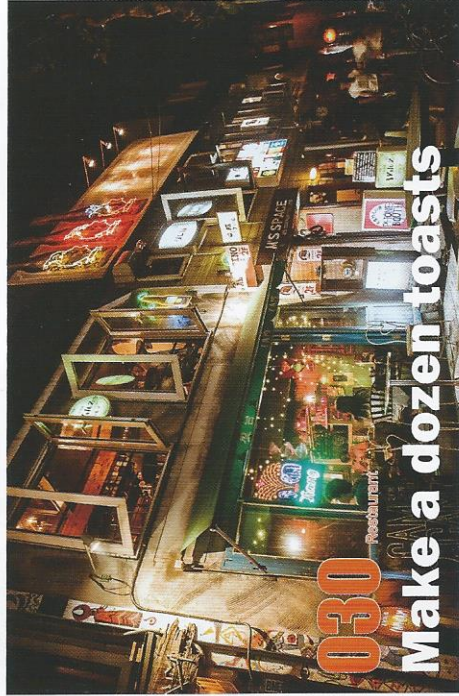

029

Restaurant

Explore the flavours of Hokkaido

Fine French cuisine made almost exclusively with seasonal Hokkaido ingredients equals pricey, right? Not at the relaxed Molière: prix fixe lunches start at ¥2,800 and dinners at ¥6,800.

Molière 5-D

030

Make a dozen toasts

Make your way around the dozen or so small watering holes and restaurants housed in this building just off the Tanukikhoji shopping arcade. Dishes range from soup curry to street grub with most eateries only opening in the evening.

Bar

Meet Japan's oldest barman

With almost 60 years of experience, Yamazaki, the owner here, is the oldest active bartender in Japan. He doesn't work every evening any more, but don't fret – his colleagues fill in with aplomb.

Bar Yamazaki 3-B

032

Restaurant

Fill up on working-class chicken

Beloved by the city's hungry masses, Hotel serves up ample portions in a no-frills atmosphere. Their fried Zangi chicken goes perfectly with sweet-and-sour sauce – but try it without condiments first.

Chinese Cuisine Hotel 3-A

033

Shopping

Show off your 'Made in Sapporo' wear

Dealing in fine leatherware for a good 20 years now, Kusaka stocks a wide variety of items, but their bags are especially worth consideration. Products by local artisans and artists are plentiful at the shop, which also houses a workshop. Open Friday to Monday.

Kusaka Kabanten 3-B

Bar

Turn on the romance over cocktails

Looking to impress a date? The selection of 59 cocktails combined with ultra gorgeous night views at this hidden gem of a bar provide the optimal setting. If possible, pick the second window seat from the back – you just might get lucky.

Moscow Mule Okurayama 5-D

035

Restaurant

Have award-winning paella

Although Japan's best paella might not sound like a surefire quality guarantee, this two-time winner of said award actually does make rather excellent Spanish cuisine. Book in advance to taste their championship-climching dish.

Bar Espana 3-B

036

Restaurant

Munch on magnificent mutton

Committed carnivore? You'll have a field day feasting on the lamb shabu-shabu and other fine mutton dishes at this cheery izakaya. They also specialise in ramen with shabu-shabu soup.

047 Travel to a strange past
 Art & Culture

What happens when you collect random retro paraphernalia for over 30 years? You have to set up a museum to hold all your stuff, which is how this place came about. Marvel at TVs, matchboxes, lingerie and more from days gone by – entrance is free and photography is allowed.

Retro Space Saka Kallian 5-D

044 Stroll through the heart of Sapporo
 Sightseeing

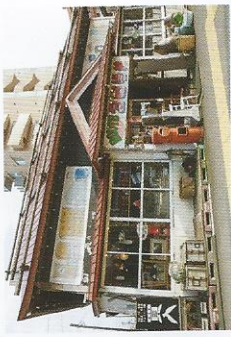

Cutting across the city centre, Odori Park offers the classic Sapporo photo op: a highway of greenery leading up to the landmark TV Tower. Summer sees beer gardens spread out on the lawns, while the famous Snow Festival takes place here in mid-winter.

Odori Park 3-B

041 Dig for quirky finds
 Shopping

As the name suggests, this antique store sits along a highway. That ease of access just might be the reason it came to stock such an eclectic collection of items – from Ainu regalia to vintage furniture.

Route 36 3-C

037 Row a boat before bar hopping
 Sightseeing

One of the many parks in central Sapporo, this one offers everything from a concert hall to boating opportunities, and is located just a 10-minute walk from the city's central entertainment district.

Susukino. Nakajima Park 4-B

049 Stop for top seafood
 Restaurant

Sapporo's streets are littered with quality izakayas, and this one, which is on the basement floor near the main station, ranks among the city's top seafood specialists. The appetisers alone are enough to introduce you to the rich food culture of Hokkaido. Imbibers will want to explore the extensive sake and shochu menu.

Afityakusen 2-B

Marvel at the railway system

When riding the subway, pay attention to the trains' wheels. You'll notice that, instead of steel wheels on a rail, Sapporo's trains run on rubber tyres with a single central guide rail. Above ground, there's a tram network known as the Sapporo Streetcar – if you're visiting in winter, look out for the Sasara Train which serves as a snowplow. From 2015, the trams are set to run on a loop route.

042 Trace the origins of a virtual pop star
 Café

Vocaloid geeks may know that Hatsune Miku was born in Hokkaido. Her parent company, Crypton, runs this café and shop that's stocked with official merchandise as well as items made by local artists. Free wi-fi available.

Miralet Cafe 3-B

039 Detour to Cuba
 Restaurant

Locals sing the praises of this unlikely eatery, which continues to conjure up authentic Cuban grub and quality mojitos far up in the frozen north. Look for the red, white and blue flag outside the door.

Habana 3-B

038 Snack like a northerner
 Shopping

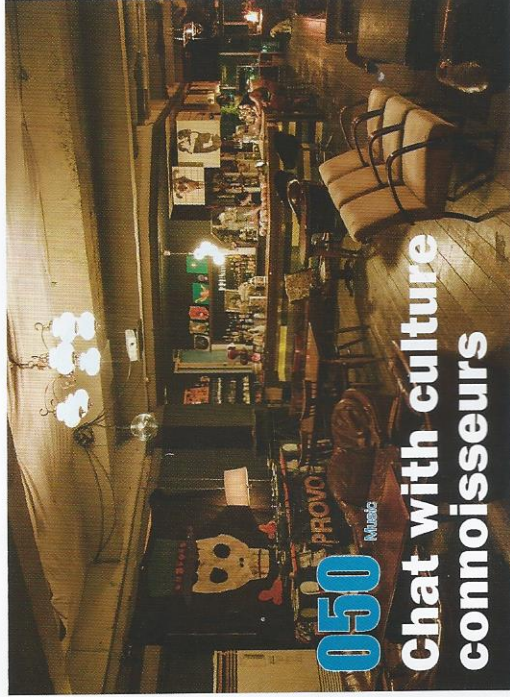

Old-school sweets are the speciality at the venerable Senshuan; try the bean paste-filled Northman, a pastry that hasn't changed much since hitting shelves back in 1974. Also take the opportunity to sip their fresh ground water, which they use in the bakery.

Senshuan HonTen 3-B

050 Chat with culture connoisseurs

Functioning as a café, bar and arty lounge, Provo is a favourite hangout for many of the city's culturati. Regular events take place here, and the background tunes never disappoint.

Provo 4-C

045 Hike the art-filled hills
 Art

Hidden among lush hills outside the city, the Art Park combines an impressive contemporary art collection with an expansive outdoor zone (open late Apr-early Nov) featuring 74 sculptures. Wear comfy shoes and prepare to walk.

Sapporo Art Park 7-D

043 Appreciate juicy island beef
 Restaurant

Meat lovers can't afford to skip this steakhouse, founded to introduce lamb-loving locals to the joys of fine beef. In order to ensure quality, all the meat used here comes directly from a single farm in rural Shikaoi Town.

Urasando GyunikuTen 6-D

040 Eat, pray, shop
 Shopping

A whopping 200 shops and restaurants line this 900m-long arcade that's come pretty far since opening in 1873. Grab a quick lunch, stop by Tanuki Shrine to pray for luck in business, or just take in the old-school vibe. The 7-chome area, with its Singaporean joints and izakayas, is great for bar-hopping.

Tanuki-koji Shopping Arcade 3-B

046 Play in the snow
 Sightseeing

Its waterfalls and flowers are beautiful in spring and summer, but where this park really shines is in the winter fun department: try skiing or sledding down a 200m tube at full speed.

Hakino Suzuran Hillside Park 7-D
